

BERTRAND "BERT" ACOSTA

Aviator (1895 - 1954)

Bertrand Acosta set an endurance record of 51 hours, 11 minutes, and 25 seconds in the air. Acosta received several fines during his aviation career from flying too close to buildings or under bridges, and was known as the "bad boy of the air."